NEW! NJDEP UST Training for Class A & B Operators

April 30, 2018 - Edison, NJ ♦ June 1, 2018 - Bordentown, NJ ♦ July 13, 2018 - Bordentown, NJ
August 8, 2018 - New Brunswick, NJ ♦ August 24, 2018 - Morris, NJ ♦ August 29, 2018 - New Brunswick, NJ

The EPA has established new minimum training requirements for designated Class A, Class B, and Class C operators to ensure that those who own and operate regulated underground storage tanks understand how to operate and maintain their UST systems properly. The federal regulations dictate that all regulated UST facilities must have a trained Class A, B and C operator by October 13, 2018.

Featured Topics

This class will cover the federally required training curriculum for A/B operators. Topics include:

Regulatory requirements applicable to UST systems; Financial responsibility; Notification and storage tank registration; Environmental and regulatory consequences of releases; Operation and maintenance of regulated UST systems; Spill and overflow prevention; Release detection and related reporting; Corrosion protection and related testing; Product and equipment compatibility; and Training requirements for Class C operators (A/B operators may be responsible for training).

This class is also approved for many types of continuing education credits.
